

The Message:

The use of information
and communication technology facilitates employment research procedures.

Target audience:

Directors, Jobseekers; Entrepreneurs.

Engaging stakeholders:

Channel: Workshops; email

How:. Policy Brief;

Policy Brief: Key messages

Context

The National Employment Fund is one of the state bodies amongst others 'PAGER U, PIACCI) in Cameroon, which promotes employment since its creation in 1990. It was announced over the radio (CRTV, April 2014) that there are over 100.000 jobseekers a year in Cameroon.

The Problem

- Unemployment as a major societal problem, an inquiry on the functioning of the NEF and most especially on its Information Centre, as an internship fulfilment.
- After administering my questionnaire, we noticed that 74% of the jobseekers were dissatisfied with employment procedures.
- As observed during my internship (2004), It took a week to be received due to absenteeism, late coming of workers and long interview. Worse of all was that certain jobseekers were given preferences (recommended or related to the interviewers). My last visit (April 2014) shows that the situation has not evolved.

Options

Implementation considerations

Barriers

Strategies to overcome barriers

- | | | |
|---|---|--|
| 1. Online interactive forum between NEF and jobseekers. | Computer literacy;
Language barrier. | Provision of on the spot (NEF) assistance to jobseekers in need. |
| 2. Reorientation of NEF personnel on the online assistance of jobseekers. | Resistance to change. | Sensitisation. |

Expected effects

Indicators

- | | |
|--|---|
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Equity in service provision. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The number of people using NEF online interactive forum increases regularly. • The satisfaction perception of jobseekers using NEF premises increases continuously |
|--|---|